GENTRY SHOWS ARE BOUND TO PLEASE THE CHILDREN

Central Avenue Show Ground Makes Seeing Circus Mighty Convenient for Albuquerque Parents.

Gentry Brothers Famous Shows, one of the world's greatest trained animal exhibitions, will give two performances in Albuquerque on Tuesday, May 5, opposite Masonic Temple. It is not often that the people of Albuquerque are given an opportunity to see a show of this class and everybody will not doubt take opportunity to witness one or both of the two exhibitions to be given here.

Many of the grown-ups as well as a larger portion of the juvenile population of Albuquerque are figuring on making a holiday of Tuesday, and will be on hand when the circus train arrives in the early morning as there is always something worth seeing when the wonders of the unloading of a circus train begins.

The Gentry Shows is an exhibition that appeals to all classes and the reputation that it enjoys throughout the United States is ample guarantee that every patron will get more than his money's worth. The big free street parade leaves the circus lot promptly at 10:30 Tuesday morning, traversing all the principal business streets of the city and it will be worth time and trouble to be on hand to witness it.

The afternoon performance will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. The doors open an hour earlier in order to enable everybody to visit the menagerie and inspect the animals. Another performance will be given at night, starting at 8 o'clock and those attending can rest assured that identically the same show will be given at night as in the afternoon. The Gentry Shows travel on their own special train of cars which makes it unnecessary to hurry through the night performance to catch an early train.

It is a well known fact that the Gentry exhibition is a show of the highest grade, both in character and merit, and a real treat is consequently in store for those who witness one or both of the two performances to be given here next Tuesday.

HOW YOU MAY THROW AWAY YOUR GLASSES

The statement is made that thousands wear eyeglasses who do not really need them. If you are one of these unfortunate, then these glasses may be ruining your eyes instead of helping them. Thousands who wear these "windows" may prove for themselves that they can dispense with glasses if they will get the following prescription filled at once. Go to Rupp's Drug Store or to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optima; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water and drop in one Optima tablet. With this harmless liquid solution bathe the eyes two to four times daily, and you are likely to be astonished at the results right from the start. Many who have been told that they have astigmatism, eye-strain, cataract, sore eyelids, weak eyes, conjunctivitis and other eye disorders, report wonderful benefits from the use of this prescription. Get this prescription filled and use it; you may strengthen your eyes that glasses will not be necessary. Thousands who are blind or nearly so, or who wear glasses would never have required them if they had cared for their eyes in time. Save your eyes before it is too late! Do not become one of those victims of neglect. Eyeglasses are only like crutches and every few years they must be changed to fit the ever-increasing weakened condition, so better see if you can, like many others, get clear, healthy, strong magnetic eyes through the prescription here given.

LAS VEGAS SUMMER SCHOOL TO HAVE BIG ATTENDANCE

President Roberts Expects More Than Four Hundred to Be Enrolled in Various Departments.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE ROOMS ARE FULLY EQUIPPED.

The summer school to be conducted at Las Vegas by the State Normal university during the coming summer will have a total enrollment of more than 400 students, according to Dr. Frank H. H. Roberts, president of the institution, who was a visitor in Albuquerque yesterday. Dr. Roberts left last night for Tularosa, N. M., where he will deliver the commencement address to the Tularosa high school tomorrow.

"We have unusual advantages for a summer school at Las Vegas," said Dr. Roberts yesterday, "which it seems are coming to be appreciated. The climate is ideal for summer work, being always delightfully cool. Our equipment for all departments of the work also is now very complete. In the domestic science department we have a large coal range, eight electric stoves, and thirty-two individual alcohol stoves, giving students work with three distinctive classes of heat and providing equipment for constant work by a large class. This practically is double the equipment we had last year. The Las Vegas Electric company is furnishing us the current for our electric stoves without charge. We have a large battery of sewing machines and the equipment in this department is very complete. Our teachers' training department also will be able to offer excellent work this year and we are prepared for a most successful session. The faculty will include the following: Dean Frank Carroon, teacher of psychology, pedagogy and English; Ester Mangum and Bessie Watt, critic teachers of the training school; Wilhelmina Voltmer, teacher of Spanish; Ida Kruse McFarlane, special lecturer; Susan Whitaker, teacher of agriculture and commercial branches; Harriette E. Mann, teacher of art and music; Oscar Lee Hargrove, teacher of manual training; L. C. Mersfelder, teacher of mathematics; D. L. Adkins, teacher of United States history and civics; H. S. Tipton, teacher of first grade subjects, with arithmetic, grammar and arithmetic review; Charles L. Schreck, assistant to Dean Carroon in pedagogy; Kate Pope, Livingston, teacher in third grade subjects.

The instructor for the domestic science department has not been selected but will be decided upon soon. Miss Anne George, the regular teacher, will be on a vacation during the summer.

The last half of the 1913 taxes becomes delinquent the first day of June, and the wise taxpayer visits the office of County Treasurer Mike Mandell early in May to avoid the rush that always set in toward the end of the month. Those who wait until the close of the month avoid delinquency, but at the cost of standing around the treasurer's office in line, stepping on one another's toes and having an unhappy time generally.

SANTA FE TAKING NO CHANCES WITH GREAT TRESTLES

The San Bernardino Sun says: Fearing attempts on the part of Mexicans to dynamite the big bridges across the Colorado river at Topok, east of Needles, and at Parker, the Santa Fe railroad company has secured the consent of Sheriff J. C. Ralph to guard the big structures with sharpshooters.

The trestles, the dynamiting of which would paralyze traffic over the Santa Fe, will be patrolled day and night.

Troop trains are using the bridges and it was feared that an attempt might be made to destroy the structures, either to delay the movement of troops or throw an entire train into the stream.

A squad of veteran officers has been sent out in the Colorado river region by the Santa Fe to guard the bridges.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Miss Anna Belle Emery, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was unable to do any work. I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years of age old, but feel as good as I did when only 15.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

Hale Says Monroe Doctrine Has Been Given New Meaning

President's Special Mexican Investigator Gives Results of His Inquiry in Strife Driven Republic in Interesting Article in Current Number of the World's Work.

(By Leased Wire to Evening Herald.) New York, April 30.—William H. Hale, President Wilson's unofficial investigator of affairs in Mexico, has contributed to the forthcoming number of The World's Work an article upholding the president's Mexican policy and pointing out an important development in the character of American diplomacy. This, he explains, is an interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine, that establishes the suzerainty of the United States only as an effective source of moral inspiration over the nations of Central America and the West Indies.

"The press and the people of America," he says, "have not yet awakened to the fact that the first year of the Wilson presidential has given the United States a new character among the powers of the world. Before Mr. Wilson had been in office a week, he had given the Monroe Doctrine an interpretation the implications of which go far beyond anything voiced by Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, Quincy, Adams, Polk, Webster, Grant or Olney. Before Mr. Wilson had been in office a year the powers of other continents had yielded to the principle of our domination in the western hemisphere. It is not fantastical therefore to speak of our moral Empire in America."

"Our Moral Empire in America" is the title of the article. The magazine editors point out that Dr. Hale desires to make it clear that he writes simply as a private student of affairs. Nevertheless, they assert that no one except the president himself is entitled to speak with greater authority upon the problems of Latin America.

Discussing the possibility of intervention in Mexico (the article was written before the fleet was ordered to Tampico), Dr. Hale says: "An American army would have no physical difficulty in getting back out of Mexico; nobody would use it up or force it go away; the difficulty would be that greed and a false sense of national honor would do their utmost to keep us there permanently in occupation."

"We do not want Mexico," he declares; especially we do not want her because we do want the good will of the rest of Latin America. "It would be a fool's act indeed to barter the confidence of a hemisphere for all we could gain by annexing Mexico."

If armed intervention should be forced upon us, he continues, "I predict that our forces will be ordered home just as soon as constitutional order has been restored; and that, as far as the power and influence of President Wilson can bring it to pass, nothing in the nature of an indemnity, either in money or land, will be asked or will be accepted. But nobody can predict how far the influence of the vast American investments in Mexico which would be multiplied in value by being brought under the American flag, might go toward rendering withdrawal impossible. What we do want in Mexico, and throughout Central America, is order."

The trouble, with Central America, Dr. Hale asserts, is its proximity for revolution. But, he says, most Central American revolutions are "promoted" from Europe in a regular way of business, exactly as a real estate scheme is promoted in America. The duty of the United States is to scrutinize each revolution by itself and to judge whether it be or be not "morally justifiable."

"That duty the United States has now assumed. When Mr. Wilson took steps to inform himself of the facts regarding the Huerta coup d'etat, with a view to passing a word of judgment upon the rightfulness of the de facto government in Mexico City, he took, it seems to me, the most far-reaching and faithful step which the Monroe Doctrine has inspired in all the process of its evolution.

"In the case of Mexico, judgment was easy. The coup d'etat that overthrew Madero in February, 1913, was in no way a revolution. It was a barter of power, a conspiracy of a few army officers, financed by Cientificos living in exile and a few Spanish reactionaries. It was attended by circumstances of treachery so execrable, of villainy so fantastic, of cruelty so barbarous, that the story is one which the mind has difficulty in accepting as credible.

"The chief actor, Huerta, an apoplectic Indian, aged, one-eyed, subsisting on brandy, when the moment of his triumph was fully come, rose from breakfasting with the president's brother, beckoned a file of soldiers, arrested him, had him carried away to be shot to death and his body thrown into a hole; went to the palace, embraced the president whose chief commander he had become through protestations of faithfulness to death, and signalled in guards to arrest him. By promise of safe-conduct out of the country, the treacherous general secured the signatures of President Madero and Vice President Suarez to deeds of resignation; hastily gathered less than a quorum of congressmen in a chamber filled with soldiers and commanded by artillery; had himself acknowledged as president; carried Madero and Pino Suarez out into the night and had them shot to death behind the prison.

"Perhaps this is enough to suggest that there could be no question or recognition Huerta at the head of a lawful government—once it had been resolved to scrutinize revolutions. But indeed it would surely have been impossible for tragic romance to have imagined a character so hideously villainous as Victoriano Huerta, or a career so completely justifying the refusal to recognize him.

"Other powers made no scruple of giving the assassin and usurper immediate recognition. Very well; the United States is not a follower of other powers. It is, it has been from the beginning of its history, the moral leader of the world. * * * It is the more fact that great powers have no consciences—but the United States has a conscience. We are a simple people, unable to rid ourselves of a prejudice against murder. * * * This is hypocrisy, sentimentalism, Quixotism, offensive moral superiority, so the British journals say. No, it is not sentimentalism; it is a plain sturdy morality, to which, unfortunately, the foreign politics of too many other nations are strangers.

"And it is a very practical morality."

ANTONY AND CLEOPATRA THE MOTION PICTURE SENSATION OF THE HOUR

The sensation of the hour in amusement circles is George Kliehe's production of the Cines photo drama spectacle of "Antony and Cleopatra." Nothing like it has been seen in the world, and the price paid for exclusive rights by the different European impresarios have been astounding. The subjects afforded the Cines company greater scope dramatically and pictorially than their production of "Quo Vadis," and they have taken ample advantage of it. The photo drama is arranged in eight parts and three acts, each one of which is a dramatic revelation. Signor Antoni Novelli is the Marc Antony and Signora Giovanna Terribili Gonzales is the Cleopatra. They are ably supported by Signor Ignazio Lupi as Octavius, Signora Matilde di Marzio as Charmian, Signora Elsa Leonard as Octavia, and a host of brilliant actors in the minor characters, some of whom played important parts in "Quo Vadis." For spectacular magnificence this production has never been approached.

At the Crystal theatre Monday and Tuesday, May 4 and 5. Matinees at 2:30, nights, 7:00 and 9:15.

They will also attend the National Good Roads convention in Indianapolis, May 7 to 9, as delegates from Colfax county.

Mothers Tell of Mother's Friend

Experience is or should be our best teacher. Women who have obeyed the highest and noblest of all laws, the struggle for the life of others, should have a better idea of helpful influence than those who theorize from observation. At any rate when a prospective grandmother urges her daughter to do as she did—to use "Mother's Friend," there is reason to believe it the right advice. "Mother's Friend" is an external application for expectant mothers. Its purpose is to furnish plenty to the muscles, to take away the strain on the cords and ligaments, to relieve the tension of nerves and tendons so apt to produce or aggravate nausea, morning sickness, twitches of the limbs and so on. Although, in the nature of things, a woman would use "Mother's Friend" but rarely, yet so effective has it been found that this splendid remedy is on sale in most drug stores throughout the United States. It has been prepared by Bradfield Regulator Co., 409 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and advertised by us for over forty years. This is a fine record for such a special remedy and the grateful letters received to-day are just as appreciative as were those of years ago notwithstanding that methods are supposed to have greatly advanced. Ask at the drug store for a bottle of "Mother's Friend." It is worth while.
